prohibit the banks from sharing this information. And the record seems to establish that in that one of the banks Mr. Jalaidan says he can't get records from is Faisal Finance, which gave him records three years after his designation.

What we are really looking for is some record to establish that he has undertaken those efforts.

THE COURT: He's produced records. Does that necessarily mean that he obtained them from the bank rather than from his own files?

 $\,$ MR. CARTER: He is producing a 2005 account statement from a bank that froze his account in 2002.

THE COURT: If he had that in his back pocket, then he didn't need to go to the bank.

MR. CARTER: What I'm saying is he is taking the position that from the date of the freezing of his accounts, all of his banks have uniformly refused to deal with him and to provide him bank statements, yet he has a bank statement from three years after that point in time.

THE COURT: I see your point. I guess, Mr. McMahon, it comes down to the same thing I said with respect to your other two clients, namely, that there has to be a full-court press. And, as Mr. Carter indicated and I've said before, it has to be documented. If you're not sufficiently able to document a vigorous effort to obtain those documents, it may be that sanctions are imposed.
